GUIDELINES TO COVER SITUATIONS POSING POTENTIAL RISK

In line with Safeguarding guidance from the DFE, The Balcarras Trust aims to provide advice on appropriate and safe behaviours for all adults working with children in paid or unpaid capacities, in all settings and in all contexts. It aims to:

- > keep children safe by clarifying which behaviours constitute safe practice and which should be avoided
- assist adults working with children to do so safely and responsibly, and to monitor their own standards and practice
- > support managers and employers in setting clear expectations of behaviour and codes of practice
- support employers in giving a clear message that unlawful or unsafe behaviour is unacceptable and that, where appropriate, disciplinary or legal action will be taken
- > ensure safer recruitment principles are applied to any interview process, including DBS checking, checking gaps in employment, consistent safeguarding questions
- minimise the risk of misplaced or malicious allegations made against adults who work with children
- reduce the incidence of positions of trust being abused or misused.
- ensure safeguarding practices are included in staff induction procedures

This document gives specific guidance on situations that it is felt staff should be given clear guidance on.

Giving gifts to children	Gifts, rewards and favouritism: The giving of gifts or rewards to children or young people should be part of an agreed policy for supporting positive behaviour or recognising particular achievements. In some situations the giving of gifts as rewards may be accepted practice for a group of children, whilst in other situations the giving of a gift to an individual child or young person will be part of an agreed plan, recorded and discussed with senior manager and the parent or carer. It is acknowledged that there are specific occasions when adults may wish to give a child or young person a personal gift. This is only acceptable practice where, in line with the agreed policy, the adult has first discussed the giving of the gift and the reason for it, with a senior school leader and/or parent or carer and the action is recorded. Any gifts should be given openly and not be based on favouritism. Adults need to be aware however, that the giving of gifts can be	 This means that adults should: Be aware of their organisations policy on the giving and receiving of gifts Ensure that gifts received or given in situations which may be misconstrued are declared Generally, only give gifts to an individual young person as part of an agreed reward system Where giving gifts other than as above, ensure that these are of insignificant value Ensure that all selection processes which concern children and young people are fair and that wherever practicable these are undertaken and agreed by more than one member of staff 	Follow the guidance outlined by the DFE alongside the following school guidance: Giving of gifts or rewards: Colleagues should use merits, stamps, postcards and certificates as appropriate. Prizes in class, for example for quizzes at Christmas, should only be of an insignificant value (e.g. a bar of chocolate), and should be given out in front of the other students, with clear explanation of the reason for the prize. No other gifts or prizes should be given. If any member of staff is unsure of whether the reward they are planning is appropriate, they should first seek the advice of a Senior School Leader.

misinterpreted by others as a gesture either to bribe or groom a young person.

Adults should exercise care when selecting children and/or young people for specific activities or privileges to avoid perceptions of favouritism or unfairness. Methods and criteria for selection should always be transparent and subject to scrutiny.

Care should also be taken to ensure that adults do not accept any gift that might be construed as a bribe by others, or lead the giver to expect preferential treatment.

There are occasions when children, young people or parents wish to pass small tokens of appreciation to adults e.g. on special occasions or as a thank-you and this is acceptable. However, it is unacceptable to receive gifts on a regular basis or of any significant value.

Receipt of gifts:

As employees of The Balcarras Trust, all staff should follow The Balcarras Trust Code of Conduct, sections 32-37 relating to gifts. The main objectives of this section are as below:

34. The general rule is that gifts offered by persons who are providing, or seeking to provide, goods or services to a school or the Council, or who are seeking decisions from a school or the Council, should be refused and returned. So should gifts (other than those of a trivial nature e.g. calendars, diaries, desk sets) offered by those receiving services from a school or the Council. Gifts, provided they are not significant monetary value, given for example by pupils or parents to their teachers, may be accepted within this Code. Also, similar gifts given to teachers during, for example, school exchange visits may be acceptable.

It should only be used as a last resort when other forms of communication are not possible Not use internet or web-based communication channels to send personal messages to a child/young person

Situation	Guidance for Safer Working Practice for Ac	dults who work with Children and Young People (DFE)	The Balcarras Trust policy and practice
Use of the Internet	Access to inappropriate images and internet usage There are no circumstances that will justify adults possessing indecent images of children. Adults who access and possess links to such websites will be viewed as a significant and potential threat to children. Accessing, making and storing indecent images of children on the internet are illegal. This will lead to criminal investigation and if proven the individual being barred from working with children and young people. Adults must not use equipment belonging to their organisation to access adult pornography; neither should personal equipment containing these images or links to them be brought into the workplace. This will raise serious concerns about the suitability of the adult to continue to work with children. Adults should ensure that children and young people are not exposed to any inappropriate images or web links. Organisations and adults need to ensure that internet equipment used by children has the appropriate controls with regards to access, e.g. personal passwords should be kept confidential. Where indecent images of children or other unsuitable material are found, the police and Local Authority Designated Officer (LADO) should be immediately informed. Adults should not attempt to investigate the matter or evaluate the material themselves, as this may lead to evidence being contaminated which in itself can lead to a criminal prosecution.	This means that organisations should Have clear e-safety policies in place about access to and use of the internet Make guidance available to both adults and children and young people about appropriate usage This means that adults should: Follow their organisation's guidance on the use of IT equipment Ensure that children are not exposed to unsuitable material on the internet Ensure that any films or material shown to	The Balcarras Trust policy and practice Follow the guidance outlined by the DFE alongside the following school guidance: All students and staff must abide by the conditions set out in The Balcarras Trust Acceptable Use Policy (AUP). Caution should be applied before showing any TV/video/DVD/internet material to students. The following should be considered: 1. What are the learning objectives and how will these be met? 2. Is the content age appropriate? 3. Could the content cause offence on religious/moral/ethical grounds? 4. When students discuss what they have seen with their parents, will it in any way damage the good reputation of the school?

Situation Arranging a one to one activity with a child	One to one situations All organisations working with or on behalf of children and young people should consider one to one situations when drawing up their policies It is not realistic to state that one to one situations should never take place. It is however, appropriate to state that where there is a need, agreed with a senior manager and/or parents/carers, for an adult to be alone with a child or young person, certain procedures and explicit safeguards must be in place. This also applies to those adults who do not work as part of an agency or organisation but owe a duty of care to the child or young person because of the nature of their work. Adults should be offered training and guidance for	This means that adults should: Ensure that when lone working is an integral part of their role, full and appropriate risk assessments have been conducted and agreed Avoid meetings with a child or young person in remote, secluded areas Always inform other colleagues and/or parents/carers about the contact(s) beforehand, assessing the need to have them present or close by Avoid use of 'engaged' or equivalent signs wherever possible. This also applies to those adults who do not work as part of an agency or organisation but owe a duty of care to the child or young person because of the nature of their work. Adults should be offered training and guidance for the use of any areas of the workplace which may place themselves or children in vulnerable situations. This would include those situations where adults work directly with children and young people in unsupervised settings and/or isolated areas within community settings or street-based projects for example. One to one situations have the potential to make a child/young person more vulnerable to harm by those who seek to exploit their position of trust. Adults working in one to one settings with children and young people may also be more vulnerable to unjust or unfounded allegations	 Always inform other colleagues and/or parents/carers about the contact(s) beforehand, assessing the need to have them present or close by Avoid use of 'engaged' or equivalent signs wherever possible. There are occasions where managers will need to undertake a risk assessment in relation to the specific nature and implications of one to one work. These assessments should take into account the individual needs of the child/young person and the individual worker and any arrangements should be reviewed on a regular basis.
Meetings with children and young people outside agreed working arrangements should not take place without the agreement of senior managers and parents or carers.

Inviting a child to your home	Guidance for Safer Working Practice for Act Personal Living Space No child or young person should be in or invited into the home of an adult who works with them, unless the reason for this has been firmly established and agreed with parents/carers and senior managers or the home has been designated by the organisation or regulatory body as a work place, e.g. childminders, foster carers. It is not appropriate for any other organisation to expect or request that private living space be used for work with children and young people. Under no circumstances should children or young people assist with chores or tasks in the home of an adult who works with them. Neither should they be asked to do so by friends or family of that adult.	This means that adults should: Be vigilant in maintaining their privacy and mindful of the need to avoid placing themselves in vulnerable situations Challenge any request for their accommodation to be used as an additional resource for the organisation Be mindful of the need to maintain professional boundaries Refrain from asking children and young people to undertake personal jobs or errands	The Balcarras Trust policy and practice Follow the guidance outlined by the DFE alongside the following school guidance: No students should be invited to the home of an adult who works with them unless this has been sanctioned in advance by a Senior School Leader. It is acknowledged that some staff, as they live close to the school, may from time to time meet with students and their families socially. Staff should always be mindful that they need to act in a way that does not compromise the professional relationship they need to maintain when in school.
